

PILAR ALMAGRO MARCOS

Founder member and Managing Director of VertiSub Group, a group of companies that carry out work specialising in high-risk jobs in the building and industry sectors. The group carries out research aimed at creating new services and products through the CREA Innovation Company and includes an engineering company, PROALTEC.

She also set up Editorial A, dedicated to creating and publicising appropriate ideas to be considered and put into practice. She gained a Doctorate from the School of Engineering at UPC in Barcelona, with a thesis based on the A.T.L.A.S. system she created, which concerns safety in large works projects. She also has a Degree in Biology, a Science and Technology teaching diploma, is an Advanced Technician in Occupational Risk Prevention and is currently studying Philosophy at the UAB. She recently obtained the Senior Management (PADE) qualification in General Management from the IESE School of Business.

As Managing Director, she spearheads the company's principles, based on the ethical doctrine of individual liberty and initiative. She is a Member of the Plenum of the Barcelona Chamber of Commerce Industry and Navigation. She is also Chairwoman of the Safety Committee of the Spanish Maintenance Association, a member of the Board of Directors of the PIMEC Employers' Association, member of the Catalan Council for Research and Innovation (CCRI), a patron of FIDEM, (International Federation of Women Employers), writer of the book El Libro de las Horas, painted by the master Jaume Muxart, and also writer of several technical and opinion newspaper articles.